

An aerial night photograph of a village in Lügde, Germany, during the Osteräderlauf festival. A massive, bright yellow-orange light trail, resembling a comet or a fire, streaks across the dark landscape, starting from a point of fire in the distance and curving towards the foreground. The village below is illuminated by streetlights and house lights, with a church spire visible in the lower right. The background shows a dark forested hillside.

Osterräderlauf®
in Lügde 2014

Das Original nur bei uns, nach uraltem Brauch, ein unvergessliches Erlebnis.